Subject: FW: Inspection & Tax Returns and Theft of Personal Properties of Simon and Shirley Bernstein

Hi Brian and Joy,

Did you get the new inspection and re-inventorying of items in the Simon Estate Personal Properties? If so please send over ASAP. Also, have you received the new certified IRS tax returns you ordered? Please provide a date and time you believe you will receive these items if you have not already got them. I also noted that in the Deposition of Donald Tescher he and Alan Rose made claims that Personal Properties were sold by Ted that were properties of the Estate of Simon and the beneficiaries of which Ted is neither a beneficiary nor fiduciary and had no rights to steal them and sell them. As you are now aware the items that were supposed to be stored in the garages of the Saint Andrews home from Shirley's Condo are not there as was told the Court and others as the garages were virtually empty when you went to inspect them. Since you have an old inventory of some of the items and those were not there at the re-inventory it would be prudent as the fiduciary in charge of the items to immediately notify the Court that the items were not there as stated to the Court by Alan Rose, Esq. and Ted Bernstein and that the items at this time appear stolen and then contact state criminal authorities for the crimes that constitutes. I have sent you the information from the Tescher deposition several months ago and that admission that items had been sold by Ted when he sold the Condo should have been sufficient to warrant notifying the judge and authorities and this new information is further proof of the crime.

Also, I noted that the Estate of Simon's inventory alleges to have personal property of Shirley's listed on it that appears not to have been recorded in the inventories of Shirley's Estate prepared by either Tescher & Spallina PA or Ted Bernstein. Tescher & Spallina PA listed $25,000.00 of un-itemized Personal Property and Ted's recent inventory shows $0.00 of Personal Properties. From the appraisals of the contents of the home and condo items and the jewelry appraisals of Shirley's jewelry, we know that none of Personal Properties in excess of the $25,000.00 or $0.00 stated on the inventory is listed on her inventory. The items should have been inventoried in Shirley's Estate, which would have had to have been done prior to any transfer to Simon via her Will and the only items that could be transferred legally to Simon where those for $25,000.00 or $0.00. This could have led to millions of dollars of un-inventoried items vanishing into thin air upon the improper transfer to Simon of items of Shirley's without accounting for them on Shirley's Inventory. How can beneficiaries of Simon know if $10,000,000.00 of Personal Properties was transferred to Simon by Shirley when she died if items were not inventoried and then when Simon died if Ted stole all but the Personal Property of Shirley's found magically to appear in Simon's inventory prepared to state only a few items by those who may have stolen them. The amount of items Shirley could have transferred to Simon is only $25,000.00 or $0.00 as that is all that is claimed and you now have evidence of items worth far more items and this raises the specter of further fraud and theft by Tescher and Spallina and Ted who were in charge of the inventorying and items from the Estates of both Simon and Shirley. Since the items not listed on Shirley's inventory are in your possession and custody now could you please explain what you intend to do about notifying the Court of this serious problem in the items you received improperly. It is not merely enough to state that Shirley transferred everything to Simon as we now are not sure what else was transferred and not inventoried and stolen prior to the inventory of Simon.

Please respond ASAP regarding these matters as the more time that passes the more crimes that may occur with the properties that are in your custody but in Ted's possession.

Thank you and have a great weekend!
Eliot
