Re: Affirmed Follow-On to the September 29, 2006 Affirmed Statement Sent From Rep. Nita M. Lowey to Chairman John D. Dingell ("Statement"), Attached as Exhibit "A."

Dear Mr. Garg:

By way of introduction, I am P. Stephen Lamont, CEO of, as well as a significant shareholder in, Iviewit Holdings, Inc. ("Iviewit"), and the constituent in question regarding Rep. Nita M. Lowey's November 28 letter to John D. Dingell, Chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, attached as Exhibit "B" for your convenience. Since Jonathan Cordone, the Deputy General Counsel of Chairman Dingell's office, among others, passed part and parcel of the allegations to the Judiciary Committee ("Committee"), also attached as Exhibit "B," I am writing to give the Committee a head start by providing all prior and concurrent Federal, State, and Foreign Bodies that have received similar information contained in the Statement, most times a great deal more, including contact names and status, attached as Exhibit "C". Additionally, such bodies are also recipients of volumes of evidence pertaining to the allegations in my Statement. Furthermore, in an attached Exhibit "D," I include names and contact information for the main alleged perpetrators that have engaged in the alleged patterns of criminal sabotage, fraud, and theft as described in my Statement, and not only against Iviewit shareholders, but against the United States Patent and Trademark Office and the Department of Commerce themselves.

Furthermore, I trust that you will give my Statement and this follow-on information the consideration that it deserves, and should you have any further questions pertaining to the issues in my Statement and/or this follow-on, feel free to call on me.

Briefly, to summarize Exhibit C, and first under Federal Bodies, it should be clear that while Iviewit has submitted volumes of incriminating information for the past number of years, determinations are taking an inordinate amount of time to surface, and some information, upon information and belief, is also protected by privacy laws, both factors of which act as means to deny Iviewit process and jeopardizes intellectual property rights. Moreover, and in light of where CFR §1.103 - Suspension of Action by the Office, or any other applicable section or any other provision in United States Code Title 35 – Patents, contains insufficient time periods to investigate the allegation of sabotage, fraud, and theft including the exhaustion of appeals to any decision, the current minimal time periods of available patent application suspensions may lead to a loss of intellectual property rights in diametric opposition to the protections afforded inventors under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States.

Second, and under State Bodies, it should be clear that conflicts of interest and cover-up attempts instituted by the main alleged perpetrators have run rampant, and equally deny Iviewit process. Moreover, it is imperative to point out that, notwithstanding the patterns of sabotage, fraud, and theft that run so wide and so deep that it tears at the very fabric of what we call free commerce in this country, neither has there been one investigation that has come to light (even though Court ordered, see State Bodies of Exhibit "C" - Appellate Division, First Department, New York), nor one witness called, nor one non-conflicted statement called for and submitted, but only that the alleged main perpetrators have escaped justice at lawyer controlled State bodies and by a billing dispute default (see State Bodies of Exhibit "C" - 15th Judicial Circuit, Palm Beach County, Florida).

Third, under Foreign Bodies, overseas patent officials are frozen like "deers in a headlight" at the aforementioned patterns of sabotage, fraud, and theft that runs so wide and so deep that it tears at the very fabric of what we call free commerce in this country, and equally denies Iviewit process. Moreover, and what began at the USPTO with the filing of four sabotaged, core patent applications, has transcended into a cavalcade of duplicate fraudulent filings instigated and committed by the main alleged perpetrators and transmitted to and through as many as 30 foreign countries by means of the Patent Cooperation Treaty. As such, this multiplicital intercourse of sabotage, fraud, and theft has become so immense as to render foreign patent officials speechless, and from The Hague, Neth. to Tokyo, Jap.

Lastly, I submit that the LaBarga billing dispute Court, the very Court that gave us our 43rd President, was not a forum for justice, but a mockery of it, and in the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States denied a petition to overturn a Florida Supreme Court decision raises a "catch-22" situation in where to bring charges against public officials proven violating public offices in their blueprint of creating conflicts of interest and cover-ups in an effort to cloak their PATTERNS OF SABOTAGE, FRAUD, AND THEFT THAT RUN SO WIDE AND SO DEEP THAT IT TEARS AT THE VERY FABRIC OF WHAT WE CALL FREE COMMERCE IN THIS COUNTRY; effectively, both have estopped Iviewit from seeking any civil relief whatsoever. Moreover, it is for all the above reasons, and especially the Affirmed Written Statement attached as Exhibit "A," as well as the denial of any process whatsoever depicted in Exhibit "C," that Iviewit requests an immediate investigation of the allegations contained herein.

Very truly yours,

P/Stephen Lamont

Re: Affirmed Request for Investigation Regarding Article 1, Section 8, Clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States as a Result of Denial of Due Process in the Alleged Improprieties in the Filing of Patent Applications on behalf of Iviewit Holdings, Inc. and its Subsidiaries, Affiliates, and Related Parties and the Resulting Cover-Ups Thereto.

Dear Representative Lowey:

By way of introduction, I am P. Stephen Lamont, CEO of, as well as a significant shareholder in, Iviewit Holdings, Inc., a privately held Delaware corporation, and its subsidiaries, affiliates and related parties (collectively "Iviewit") with more than a fifteen year track record as a multimedia technology and consumer electronics licensing executive and holder of a J.D. in Intellectual Property Law, an M.B.A in Finance, and a B.S. in Industrial Engineering, and I write in disgust at the denial of due process in the pattern of frauds, deceits, and misrepresentations that run so wide and so deep that it tears at the very fabric of what has become to be know as free commerce in this country, and, in the fact that it pertains to inventors rights, tears at the very fabric of the Constitution of the United States more fully described below.

BACKGROUND

In mid 1998, Iviewit's founder, Eliot I. Bernstein, among others ("Inventors"), came upon inventions pertaining to what industry experts have heretofore described as profound shifts from traditional techniques in video and imaging then overlooked in the annals of video and imaging technology. Factually, the technology is one of capturing a video frame at a 320 by 240 frame size (roughly, $\frac{1}{4}$ of a display device) at a frame rate of one (1) to infinity frames per second ("fps" and at the twenty four (24) to thirty (30) range commonly referred to as "full frame rates" to those skilled in the art). Moreover, once captured, and in its simplest terms, the scaled frames are then digitized (if necessary), filtered, encoded, and delivered to an agnostic display device and zoomed to a full frame size of 1280 by 960 at the full frame rates of 24 to 30 fps. The result is, when combined with other proprietary technologies, DVD quality video at bandwidths of 700 or more Kbps to 6 Mbps per second, at a surprising seventy five percent (75%) savings in throughput ("bandwidth") on any digital delivery system such as digital terrestrial, cable, satellite, multipoint-multichannel delivery system, or the Internet, and a similar 75% savings in storage on mediums such as digital video discs ("DVD's") and the hard drives of many consumer electronic devices. Moreover, on the imaging side, the Iviewit inventions are used on almost every digital camera and present screen design and other devices that utilize the feature of "digital zoom". Furthermore, industry observers who benefited from the Iviewit disclosures have gone on to claim "you could have put 10,000 engineers in a room for 10,000 years and they would never have come up with these ideas...”

Moreover, and while grant it I was not a participant during the alleged burying and purported theft of the technologies, I found myself leading a company in the midst of a cover up surrounding the following depictions of frauds, deceptions, and misrepresentations that run so wide and so deep that it tears at the very fabric of what has become to be known as free commerce in this country, and, in the fact that it pertains to inventors rights, tears at the very fabric of the Constitution of the United States.

Initially, and early in my tenure, rumors began swirling around the company with finger pointing and all from Florida to Los Angeles wherein it caught the jet stream and arrived very soon in New York of alleged breaches of confidentiality pertaining to Iviewit technology, transfers of trade secrets, and, even in certain circumstances, the knowing and willful invention fraud by the outright switching of signature pages of patent filings by early patent counsels. Additionally, during my tenure, I was in possession of an executed patent application pertaining to Iviewit's core imaging technology with the inventors of Bernstein and Shirajee, when, out of thin air, and just prior to filing, such patent application witnesses the addition of a one Brian G. Utley (“Utley”) as an inventor, and an individual who could not have been farther from the heat of the inventive stage of the imaging technology.

Still further, I submit that at the first disclosures of the inventions, patent counsel, who had spent half a lifetime procuring technologies for the transmission of full screen, full frame rate video across a variety of transmission networks, and who during the Iviewit disclosures have been known to state “[I] missed that,” and “[I] never thought of that,” and “[This] changes everything,” or words to those effects, were so fearful that Iviewit would partner with other proprietary technologies across the video value chain and wipe the carefully crafted patent pools off the face of the map, therefore, the Iviewit inventions HAD to be buried to preserve those pools.

That was the first step, with the second step, through the direct and indirect introductions of Iviewit, with executed confidentiality agreements (“NDA’s”), to some five hundred potential licensees by colleagues of patent counsel, being the proliferation of Iviewit disclosures across a wide array of potential licensees and competitors.

Following along, we arrive at the point in the past when the Iviewit inventions had been buried and that everyone had begun to use it, when past management in Iviewit and new patent counsel may have thought “Hey, okay, great, but now what’s in it for us,” that proceeded to a final step, and in addition to the intentional change of inventors with the inclusion of Utley, the corporate shell game that involved multiple, unauthorized, similarly named corporate formations and unauthorized stock swaps and unauthorized asset transfers that resulted in the core patent applications assigned to an entity that may have only one shareholder, the limited liability partnership of Proskauer Rose, the alleged perpetrating patent counsel, perhaps, with a view towards resurrecting the backbone technologies at some future point.

Moreover, in the above series of allegations, Iviewit is confident that your Office will find a reasonable certainty that Messrs. Kenneth Rubenstein (“Rubenstein”), Raymond A. Joao (“Joao”), William J. Dick (“Dick”), Steven Becker, and Douglas Boehm, all present action against the alleged offending attorneys by the U.S. Attorney's Office or other organization, agency, or court of appropriate jurisdiction.

Lastly, Iviewit often asks itself, among other things, "Why did the Hon. Jorge LaBarga of the Circuit Court of the Fifteenth Judicial District, Florida deny Iviewit's Motion for Leave to Amend Answer to Assert Counterclaim for Damages (concerning the aforementioned allegations)" and "Why did The Florida Bar ('TFB') dismiss the complaint against Christopher C. Wheeler, Esq. ('Wheeler' and, a non-patent attorney, a main protagonist of the above referenced allegations) despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary" and "Why did the Supreme Court of Florida deny Iviewit's Petition to begin the immediate investigation of the Wheeler complaint (when TFB admitted in writing that the answer to the Wheeler complaint was authored by an attorney in flagrant violation of his public office obligations)" and "Why did the First Department Departmental Disciplinary Committee of New York stall Iviewit's complaint against Rubenstein and Joao despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary" and "Why, despite the New York State Supreme Court Appellate Division First Department's order to begin the immediate investigation of Rubenstein and Joao, did the Second Department Departmental Disciplinary Committee of New York dismiss the Rubenstein and Joao complaints and stating that they were 'not under the jurisdiction' of the First Department Court" and "Why did the Virginia Bar Association dismiss the Dick complaint despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary" and "Why did the Supreme Court of the United States decline to hear Iviewit's Petition for Writ of Certiorari to the Florida Supreme Court to overturn the Florida Court's decision" and "why did John Doll, Commissioner of Patents at the USPTO, fail to correct the inventors, and refuses to take or return Iviewit's call, in a petition filed more than three years ago" and Iviewit finds itself answering "[T]HAT IT IS ALL PART AND PARCEL OF THE TOTAL DENIAL OF DUE PROCESS IN THE PATTERN OF FRAUDS, DECEITS, AND MISREPRESENTATIONS THAT RUN SO WIDE AND SO DEEP THAT IT TEARS AT THE VERY FABRIC OF WHAT HAS BECOME TO BE KNOWN AS FREE COMMERCE IN THIS COUNTRY, AND, IN THE FACT THAT IT PERTAINS TO INVENTORS RIGHTS, TEARS AT THE VERY FABRIC OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES."

Representative Nita M. Lowey

Mr. Vogel,

Thank you for your time on the phone earlier, and attached is my original Affirmed Written Statement to Rep. Lowey and her cover letter to Chairman Dingell concerning same.

Moreover, to summarize our discussion, you will be discussing the Affirmed Written Statement with your committee's Assistant General Counsel, Jonathan Cordone, to determine whether your House committee has jurisdiction, and you offered to apprise me either way.

Furthermore, should your House Committee not have jurisdiction, you offered to forward my Affirmed Written Statement to the appropriate committee and copy me on your transmission.

Finally, should you or Mr. Cordone have any further questions, feel free to contact me.

30 Fifteenth Judicial District, Florida - Judge Jorge Labarga	Proskauer v. Viewit Civil Case No. CA 01-04871 AB (At time of Viewit's discovering this law suit that management and shareholders were unaware of, it was not known that these were fraudulent companies set up by Proskauer to steal intellectual property.	Default Judgment against Viewit for failure to retain replacement counsel	Dismissed upon review with no formal investigation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Labarga refuses to allow a counter complaint filed by competent counsel for Viewit knowing that attorneys in the billing case have committed crimes against the United States Patent & Trademark Office Labarga dismisses Viewit law firms after canceling a trial date with no notice to Viewit or either of two law firms handling the case for Viewit. Labarga immediately files against Viewit for failure to retain replacement counsel, after dismissing two law firms only days before. Proskauer v. Viewit will be appealed when due process and procedure can be figured based on new evidence. It was unknown at the initial lawsuit, that the companies involved in the lawsuit, although similarly named to Viewit, were set up fraudulently by former counsel to harbor stolen intellectual properties that were almost identical to the Viewit intellectual properties It appears the combination of the bogus involuntary bankruptcy and the bogus lawsuit, were designed to take the stolen patents by instituting a lawsuit against these phony companies, whereby Proskauer would be the largest creditor in the bogus lawsuit.
