

CuomoTARP Blog Connects Andrew Cuomo's Cash Receipts From AEG Related Contributors With NY Senate Democrats/ Paterson/ AEG Scandal

The blog CuomoTARP uses Andrew Cuomo's contributions from individuals and companies in the AEG scandal to make him as another pay to play player in the AEG scandal, joining NY Senate Democrats.

The blog CuomoTARP.blogspot.com uses factual links as always on its latest post. "MIA Andrew Cuomo Found Feeding At AEG Cash Bait Drop In Albany Swamp," to add Andrew Cuomo as another major player in the AEG scandal involving NY Senate Democrats and Governor Paterson. The blog uses Cuomo's promise to drain the Albany swamp to expose the hypocrisy of Andrew Cuomo's promise to drain the Albany swamp when he is a major beneficiary of that swamp. And why was Cuomo MIA with so much corruption right under his nose?

The blog begins with "Put on your hip boots and a clip on your nose and wade into the Swamp ...hear Andrew Cuomo croaking, 'The basic premise is, well, if people give you money maybe you'll be influenced. Not if you have integrity,'" The blog continues with "Smell the latest swamp gas bubble: 'An eight-month probe by state Inspector General Joseph Fisch of one of the largest-ever state contracts - a 30-year franchise to run a downstate casino worth potentially billions of dollars - reveals an almost breathtaking array of abuses by top Democratic officials controlling the legislative and executive branches'."

The blog wonders whether you would be astonished at the stench just as an incredulous Inspector General, Fisch, who said, "Senator Sampson confidential information to Carl Andrews, a former state senator and AEG lobbyist at the time. Sampson's lack of recall during his interview with investigators was remarkable.' 'I stopped counting the number of 'I don't recalls' when I reached 100,' he said of Sampson's testimony."

Or would you be astonished that "Every single major leader of the Senate Democrats is being recommended to the federal prosecutor or the district attorney to be investigated criminally"

The blog points out that you can see the Senate Democrats feeding at the AEG cash bait drop being joined by a hungry Andrew Cuomo. "Nor does it change the fact that Cuomo has received campaign contributions from individuals and companies aligned with the scandal, including Levine Builders, Turner Construction, Greenstar Services, and Floyd Flake."

The blog concludes, "We've located in the Albany Swamp Andrew Cuomo, whose integrity he says is above reproach. He wasn't MIA in this scandal, nor draining the Albany Swamp. He was battling to get his fair share at the AEG cash bait drop in the Albany Swamp."
