FACTUAL BACKGROUND

74. Contained in this Complaint, Plaintiffs depict a conspiratorial pattern of fraud, deceit, and misrepresentation, that runs so wide and so deep, that it tears at the very fabric of what has come to be known as due process in this country, and in that the circumstances involve inventors' rights, tears at the very fabric of the Constitution of the United States.

75. That the nexus of events begins where Christopher C. Wheeler ("Wheeler"), a partner of Proskauer and who provided legal services to Plaintiffs, and Kenneth Rubenstein, the patent attorney partner of Proskauer, and counsel to and patent evaluator of the multimedia patent pools sponsored by MPEG LA, LLC (“Rubenstein”) embarked on disingenuous scheme to deprive Plaintiffs of the fruits of the technology that consisted of patent sabotage, the proliferation of the technology across a wide array of potential licensees and competitors, theft of intellectual properties, direct threats on, including a car bombing, and destruction of the personal property of Plaintiff BERNSTEIN, and cover-ups thereto, the specific subject matter of this Complaint.

76. That including but not limited to Proskauer, MLGSW, Wheeler, Rubenstein, and Raymond A. Joao (“Joao”), represented to Plaintiffs as Rubenstein’s underling, upon viewing the technology developed at the time by Plaintiff BERNSTEIN and others realized the significance of the technology, its various applications to communication networks for distributing video and images and for existing digital processes, including but not limited to, all forms of video delivery, digital cameras, digital imaging technologies for medical purposes and digital video, and that Proskauer, Foley, Wheeler, Rubenstein, and Joao then conspired to undertake and in fact undertook a deliberate course of conduct to deprive Petitioners of the beneficial use of such technology for their own and others gains, all to the detriment of Plaintiffs.

77. That, meanwhile, and in conflict of interest, another Proskauer partner, Steven C. Krane (“Krane”) former President of the New York State Bar Association and a leading figure in the New York disciplinary departments, represented and authored a response acting as counsel for Rubenstein and in a complaint filed later against him directly, while holding multiple ethics positions with both the attorney discipline body Plaintiffs had filed with and other ethics positions, including the New York State Bar Association rules of a one year blackout period to represent accused attorneys, in New York State. Upon this finding of conflict and violation of Supreme Court of New York Appellate Division First Department offices, Plaintiffs proceeded to file a petition to move the complaints to an unbiased forum, free of conflict and further improprieties and begin the immediate investigation of the complaints against Rubenstein, Joao, and now Krane - Docket 2004.1883 (conflict of interest).

78. That it became abundantly clear to Plaintiffs, and is a factual matter that, Thomas J. Cahill (“Cahill”), the Chief Counsel of 1st DDC, masterminded a scheme to aid and abet in indefinitely delaying the complaints against these attorneys, including Krane, resulting in the attorney complaint filed against Cahill himself in Special Inquiry No. 2004.1122 Complaint against Thomas Cahill, Chief Counsel First Department Departmental Disciplinary, Martin Gold special investigator.

79. That in the lawsuit filed on October 27, 2007 in this Court styled as Christine C. Anderson v. The State of New York, et. al. S.D.N.Y., October 27, 2007 the plaintiff affirmatively claims support by Plaintiffs matters of patent sabotage, intellectual property theft, and attempted murder of the family of Plaintiff BERNSTEIN perpetrated by, among others, the once respected Proskauer and its members Rubenstein, Krane, Chief Judge Judith S. Kaye and her late Proskauer partner husband Stephen Kaye, Wheeler, and Foley, led by Grebe.

80. Plaintiffs direct this Court to the file at the 1st DDC concerning the Complaint Against Kenneth Rubenstein - Docket 2003.0531, Raymond A. Joao - Docket 2003.0532, Steven C. Krane - Docket 2004.1883, Thomas J. Cahill - Special Inquiry #2004.1122, and in the 2nd DDC, Kenneth Rubenstein T-1688-04, Raymond A. Joao T-1690-04, Steven C. Krane T-1689-04, Diana Maxwell Kearsse - complaint filed and she refused to docket, Lawrence DiGiovanna - complaint filed and refused to docket by Diana Maxwell Kearsse and A. Gail Prudenti, James E. Peltzer - complaint filed and A. Gail Prudenti refused to docket, and all supporting materials thereto for a factual statement concerning the matters complained of herein (over 6,000 pages in total).

Suit Accuses Court Panel of Cover-Up

By PAUL VITELLO
Published: November 1, 2007

A former lawyer for the state court system, fired in June from her job investigating lawyers charged with misconduct, has charged in a federal lawsuit that supervisors "whitewashed" some cases for "personal or political reasons."

The lawyer, Christine C. Anderson, who was a staff attorney for six years in a Departmental Disciplinary Committee of the State Supreme Court's Appellate Division in Manhattan, did not name the lawyers who she said received such protection. But she said her supervisors, who were named, intervened on behalf of lawyers against whom she had found "overwhelming concrete evidence of misconduct."

The lawsuit, filed last week in the United States District Court for the Southern District, charges that Ms. Anderson was fired because she openly voiced her concerns about "a pattern and practice of whitewashing and routinely dismissing complaints leveled against certain select attorneys." Ms. Anderson, 62, who is black, also said she was a victim of age and race discrimination.

Disciplinary committees operate in each of the state's four Appellate Division departments to investigate lawyers accused of misconduct. Charges can vary from unresponsiveness toward clients, to the theft of money from escrow accounts, to failure to disclose conflicts of interest. Based on investigations by staff attorneys like Ms. Anderson, committees can admonish lawyers, suspend or revoke their licenses or recommend criminal prosecution.

In the suit, Ms. Anderson, who worked in the First Department, covering most of New York City and Westchester, named as defendants Thomas J. Cahill, chief counsel of the Departmental Disciplinary Committee; his first deputy, Sherry K. Cohen; Catherine O'Hagan Wolfe, the court clerk; David Spokiny, her deputy; and John Buckley, the presiding justice of the Office of Court Administration.

None could be reached for comment. David Bookstaver, a spokesman for the state court system, said it would be "inappropriate to comment."

Fred K. Brewington, the Long Island lawyer representing Ms. Anderson, said she had been harassed on the job continuously, beginning in 2005, after she raised questions about Ms. Cohen's relationship with a lawyer representing another lawyer who was under review. Despite strong evidence of misconduct by the lawyer in that case, he said, the complaint was dismissed and a file containing Ms. Anderson's investigation disappeared.

Ms. Anderson is seeking $10 million in damages, as well as punitive damages and lawyer's fees for what her suit described as the "irreparable injury," "mental anguish and humiliation" of being fired without cause.

Complaints Against 'Select Attorneys' Whitewashed, N.Y. Lawsuit Alleges

Daniel Wise
New York Law Journal
October 30, 2007

Printer-friendly Email this Article Reprints & Permissions

A former staff attorney at the 1st Department Disciplinary Committee has filed a federal lawsuit charging she was fired in June in retaliation for complaining that her superiors had engaged in a "pattern and practice of whitewashing and routinely dismissing complaints against certain select attorneys."

Christine C. Anderson, who had worked for six years at the disciplinary committee, seeks $10 million in damages, claiming retaliation for the exercise of her First Amendment rights and discrimination because she is of Jamaican origin and black.

Anderson also asks for the appointment of a federal monitor to oversee operation of the disciplinary committee.

David Bookstaver, a spokesman for the Office of Court Administration, said it would be "inappropriate" to comment on pending litigation.

Anderson alleged two instances in which her recommendations had been overridden or changed by her superiors at the committee.

In 2005, Anderson charged in her complaint, she discovered that the chief counsel of the disciplinary committee, Thomas J. Cahill, and Sherry K. Cohen, its first deputy counsel, were "apparently engaged in a 'numbers game' and practice" of "selectively" dismissing complaints against attorneys for their "own personal and political reasons."

A possible second, or alternative reason for the dismissals, the complaint stated, was that the prosecutions of the complaints would be "burdensome or otherwise 'unworthy' of prosecution."

Anderson also charged that in one incident, in July 2006, Cohen physically blocked her from leaving her office and, in so doing, had dug her nails into the plaintiff's hand, causing scratches.

Cahill declined to comment on the allegations; Cohen did not return a call for comment.

In addition to suing Cahill and Cohen, Anderson named as defendants Justice John T. Buckley, who was presiding justice of the Appellate Division, 1st Department, until May; former Clerk of Court Catherine O'Hagan Wolfe, who resigned in April to become clerk of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals; and the Office of Court Administration.

The case, Anderson v. State of New York, was filed on Friday in the Southern District of New York, according to Anderson's attorney, Frederick K. Brewington of Hempstead, N.Y.

Cahill's retirement was announced in July, though he is remaining as chief counsel until a successor is chosen.

The first instance of a "whitewash" alleged in Anderson's complaint occurred "in or about 2003" in "a highly sensitive investigation," which had uncovered "overwhelming concrete evidence of misconduct" by an attorney, Anderson alleged.

The matter was dropped despite her recommendation that a formal complaint be filed against the lawyer, Anderson alleged.

She also charged that a large file she had amassed containing "indisputable evidence of misconduct" had been "guttled."

The second instance in which Anderson's handling of a case was overridden occurred about two years later, she alleged.

In that case, she stated, Cahill had asked her to write an introductory paragraph to the policy committee, explaining her recommendation that an attorney be given a non-public admonition rather than be the subject of a formal proceeding that could lead to a public sanction.

Anderson explained in her complaint, that, although the results of a "complex investigation" of the attorney "argued strongly in favor of charges," there was "lack of actual proof of a conversion." She also stated there had been an "initial lack of cooperation" from the client complaining against the lawyer.

Anderson stated that she wrote an introductory paragraph explaining the gravity of the attorney's conduct, but that Cohen had rewritten it, "deleting facts" Anderson had uncovered during her investigation and conclusions she had reached.

Anderson quoted Cohen as saying the reason she had rewritten the paragraph was to avoid having the policy committee send the matter back to staff for the preparation of a formal complaint.

Anderson further charged that Cohen had done this because "she had a prior working relationship" with the attorney for the lawyer under investigation and sought to avoid having his client formally charged "as a favor."

The complaint did not identify the two lawyers who were the subjects of the proceedings cited by Anderson. Brewington said in an interview that he would not name them "at this time."
