Mr. Vitullo is a Martindale-Hubbell AV-rated attorney. He was born in Niagara Falls, New York in 1966. Mr. Vitullo has devoted most of his practice to complex litigation primarily emphasizing on business, and commercial litigation proceedings. He has been involved in numerous tax shelter cases and has handled intricate insurance and investment and tax litigation for clients across the country. Mr. Vitullo has extensive experience in both prosecuting and defending cases, including many involving Fortune 500 corporations. He also specializes in litigation of investment fraud and stockholder misconduct, representing clients who have been victims of retirement plan fraud, including securities and Ponzi schemes to recover their losses. He has also tried over 50 jury trials. As a result of this diverse background, Mr. Vitullo appreciates all sides of a dispute and anticipates his opponent's actions before they happen.

Since 1991, Mr. Vitullo has been lead counsel in more than 50 jury trials. He has successfully negotiated settlements in numerous cases resulting in millions of dollars in recoveries for his clients, and also saving millions of dollars for his corporate clients.

Mr. Vitullo has appeared in courts from California to New Jersey, and is regularly retained to represent clients in courts throughout the state of Texas. He has prosecuted and defended class action lawsuits in Texas and California. The cases were certified as class actions and culminated in payments of millions of dollars in settlement proceeds.

Mr. Vitullo has also worked directly with a number of insurance companies, both in defending lawsuits and reviewing their business practices for potential litigation risks.

Mr. Vitullo has handled investment litigation involving complex tax issues and has successfully recovered millions of dollars for clients who have tax exposure to the IRS.
