- Litigation
- Probate
- Probate, Trust & Fiduciary Litigation
- Real Estate
- Trusts

Steve Lessne's practice focuses on complex litigation in commercial, probate and trust matters. For over fifteen years, he has represented and counseled banks, fiduciaries, public and private companies, and individuals in state and federal court and arbitration proceedings throughout Florida. Mr. Lessne's proficiency in both commercial and probate/trust litigation enables him to competently represent banks in both commercial and fiduciary capacities, and uniquely qualifies him to provide representation in complex estates and trusts, particularly those with business holdings or considerations. Mr. Lessne's substantial experience is bolstered by his practical business sense, his resolution-style approach, and his ability to manage crisis situations.

Mr. Lessne's civil practice at GrayRobinson includes matters relating to contracts, fraud, business practices, shareholder/partner relations and real estate. In his probate and trust litigation practice, he represents both individuals and institutions.

Some of Mr. Lessne's past and present representations include:

- Represented a court-appointed successor personal representative of the estate of a prominent real estate developer; tasked with investigating undocumented transactions between a myriad of related entities and individuals, and pursuing millions of dollars of debts owed to the estate and claims against the original fiduciaries.

- Represented a state insurance commissioner, in her capacity as liquidator of a failed insurance company, in an action to set aside preferential payments made to another insurance company.
- Represented a court-appointed receiver in connection with a failing hotel; tasked with remediating fire code violations, overseeing hotel management, negotiating with taxing authorities and pursuing claims on behalf of the hotel.
- Represented an acquiring bank in a dispute arising out of a bank merger.
- Represented a physician separating from his medical practice; successfully obtained the release of patient records and a covenant not to compete.
- Represented the buyer of a commercial office building in a fraud action against the seller.
- Represented judgment-creditors and judgment-debtors in actions to set aside and recover fraudulent conveyances.
- Represented trustees, personal representatives, and beneficiaries in actions to set aside wills and trusts and in actions involving breaches of fiduciary duty.
