

I, Michelle Doyle hereby state and swear as follows:

I have lived at Stonybrook Apartments since July 2003.

I have seen the appearance of mold in my unit and it is making me and my family sick.

I have smelled mold and mildew that is making me and my family sick.

I have reported these issues to management and here is what they have done and said.

We have sought medical treatment for all of the following since taking residency:

These are the health issues:

Person 1, Age 25, Illnesses: Finger mold.

Person 2, Age 4, Illnesses: Mild Asthma, Non-stop cough.

Person 3, Age 2, Illnesses: Red eye.

We have been proscribed the following medicines: Cingular, Zyrtec, Amoxicillan, finger medicine unknown.

I have not purchased a mold testing kit to test if the HVAC is circulating mold

I may have mold in my HVAC (Air Conditioning) unit.

I have found mold in my closet or bedrooms.

I have found mold under my sinks.

My bathroom is smelly or moldy.

I was not made aware of a drug rehabilitation center being operated in our residential community. I am afraid of having hard-core drug users around me and my children and would not have moved in knowing of such center.

I was told and further led to believe that the front gate was a security gate and Stonybrook was a secured community. Management has sent me a letter stating the gate that is broken now for three months was only for traffic control gate and not for security. Either way, not having a gate where everyone, including children for the school bus, cross over is highly dangerous. The gate is in front of the crosswalk and without it cars having been entering in the wrong way through the broken gate at a high rate of speed into traffic leaving the building.

We find the pool to be full of mold and constantly dirty and foul smelling water.

We were never told that our unit was flooded prior to occupancy.

I am very afraid of the current health problems me and my family suffer and am having these conditions further explored as mold related illnesses since they began immediately after occupancy.
